

Journal of Cross-Cultural Family Studies

Call for Papers

The Journal of Cross-Cultural Family Studies (JCCFS) is an electronic, open access, peer-reviewed academic journal seeking to promote and publish research on the internal dynamics of the family and its relationship to society as affected by its cross-cultural interactions.

The research is multi-disciplinary, including psychology, sociology, anthropology, education, and communication. The population studied includes mobile families raising Third Culture Kids (TCKs), expatriates/repatriates in the foreign service, military, mission, education and corporate sectors, as well as families of immigrants and refugees.

Author Guidelines

Authors will submit their proposed article, including a title page with contact information, an Abstract, complete references, and any tables or figures. For all matters of style, manuscript submissions should follow the Publication Manual of the APA, 6th edition, 2010.

For Articles:

- Length: 20 to 25 page submission, including abstract and references

For Book Reviews:

- Review length: 2000 words maximum
- Full bibliographic information of the book reviewed should be provided

Peer Review Process

The Journal of Cross-Cultural Family Studies (JCCFS) adheres to a policy of blind peer-review. After a preliminary screening from the Chief Editor, each manuscript will be sent to at least two qualified reviewers. The author name(s) and personal references should therefore appear only on the title page. Internal identifications in the text should be removed. Reviewers will quickly and efficiently process and send recommendations to the Chief Editor who will be the contact point for the submission. Reviews will include ratings for content, methodology, and style with an overall rating of

- 1) publish as is, ready to go
- 2) publish with noted minor corrections
- 3) consider publishing after resubmission addressing content/methods/style or a combination
- 4) recommend not publishing

When editorial changes are expected, the Editor will then contact the author(s) to discuss efficient turn-around time.
